3. Structure of the Board

The Board shall comprise at least four directors and it is intended that the Board should, where practicable (but having regard to any minimum requirements set out in the ASX and/or NZX Listing Rules), comprise a majority of independent directors and comprise directors with a broad range of skills, expertise, and experience from a diverse range of backgrounds that is relevant to the Company and its strategy.

4. Independent Director

Where this Charter or the charter of a board committee requires one or more "independent" directors, the following criteria are to be applied.

An "independent" director is a non-executive director who does not have a disqualifying relationship. A disqualifying relationship means any direct or indirect interest, position, association, or relationship that could reasonably influence, or could reasonably be perceived to influence, in a material way, the director's capacity to:

- bring an independent view to decisions in relation to the Company;
- act in the best interests of the Company; and
- represent the interests of the Company's shareholders generally, having regard to the factors that may impact director independence, if applicable.

Examples of interests, positions, associations and relationships that might cause doubts about the independence of a director include if the director:

- is, or within the last three years has been, employed in an executive capacity by the Company or another group member, or been a director after ceasing to hold any such employment;
- is, or within the last three years has been, a principal of a material professional adviser or a material consultant to the Company or another group member, or an employee materially associated with the service provided;
- is, or within the last three years has been, in a material business relationship (e.g. a material supplier or customer) with the Company or another group member, or an officer of or otherwise associated directly or indirectly with an entity which the Company is in a material business relationship with;
- has, or within the last three years has had, a material contractual relationship with the Company or another group member other than as a director of the Company;

- is a substantial product holder of the Company, or a senior manager of, or person otherwise associated with, a substantial product holder of the Company;
- has close family ties with anyone in the categories listed above;
- has served on the Board for a period which could, or could reasonably be perceived to, materially interfere with the director's ability to act in the best interests of the Company; or
- has any interest or any business or other relationship which could, or could reasonably be perceived to, materially interfere with the director's ability to act in the best interests of the Company.

In each case, the materiality of the interest, position, association or relationship needs to be assessed to determine whether it might interfere, or might reasonably be seen to interfere with the director's capacity to bring an independent judgement to bear on issues before the Board and to act in the best interest of the Company and its shareholders generally.

Family ties and cross-directorships may also be relevant in considering interests and relationships which may compromise independence and should be disclosed by directors to the Board.

The Board should regularly assess whether each non-executive director is independent. Each non-executive director should provide to the Board all information that may be relevant to this assessment. If a director's independent status changes, this should be disclosed and explained to the market in a timely manner.

5. Directors' Responsibilities

Each director of the Company is bound by the Company's charters, policies and protocols, including the:

- Board Charter;
- Audit and Risk Management Committee Charter;
- Nomination Committee Charter;

- observe the principles of independence, accuracy and integrity in dealings with the Board, board committees, internal and external auditors, senior management and employees within the Company;
- act in accordance with this Board Charter and disclose to the Board any actual or perceived conflicts of interest, whether of a direct or indirect nature, of which the director becomes aware and which the director reasonably believes is material, in that it may or may be perceived to influence his vote or compromise the reputation or performance of the Company; and
- set a standard of honesty, fairness, integrity, diligence and competency in respect of the position of director.

6. Role of the Chair

- The Company recognises that it is important that the Chair has a defined role in the organisation and operates in accordance with clear functional lines.
- The role of Chair requires a significant time commitment. The Chair's other positions should not be such that they are likely to hinder effective performance in the role.
- Among other things, the Chair is responsible for initiating the performance evaluation process of individual directors.

7. Specific Duties of the Chair

The Chair will:

- where practicable, be an independent non-executive director;
- chair board meetings;

The Board meets regularly with the Chief Executive Officer and other members of the Senior Leadership Team to provide strategic guidance for the Company and effective oversight of management.

9. Confidential Information and External Communication

The Board has established the following principles to apply in respect of information of the Company:

- generally, the Chair will speak for the Company. Individual Board members are expected not to communicate on behalf of the Board or the Company without prior consultation with the Chair;
- any disclosure of information to a shareholder or any other person which is not disclosed to the market must be approved under the Continuous Disclosure Policy and must comply with the NZX and ASX Listing Rules; and
- all directors are required to keep all information provided to them in their capacity as a director confidential, unless it is required by law or by the NZX or ASX Listing Rules.

10. Conflicts of Interest

The directors of the Company are required to act in a manner which is consistent with the best interests of the Company as a whole, free of any actual or possible conflicts of interest, and in accordance with the Code of Ethics.

If a director considers that they might be in a position where there is a reasonable possibility of conflict between their personal or business interests, the interests of any associated person, or their duties to any other company, on the one hand, and the interests of the Company or their duties to the Company, on the other hand, the director must:

- fully and frankly inform the Board about the circumstances giving rise to the possible or actual conflict;
- if requested by the Board, within seven days or such further period as may be permitted, take such steps as are necessary and reasonable to remove any conflict of interest; and
- abstain from voting on any motion relating to the matter and absent him/herself from all board deliberations relating to the matter, including receipt of Board papers bearing on the matter.

If a director believes that they may have a conflict of interest or duty in relation to a particular matter, the director should immediately consult with the Chair (or, in the case of the Chair, the Chair should immediately consult with the other non-executive directors).

Interested directors may not vote on Board resolutions except as permitted under the NZX Listing Rules.

11. Related Party Transactions

The Board has delegated to the Audit and Risk Management Committee responsibility for reviewing and monitoring related party transactions and investments involving the Company and its directors.

12. Meetings

Meetings of the Board may be held or participated in by conference call or similar means. Resolutions of the Board may be passed by circular resolution or in writing in accordance with the Company's Constitution.

The Chair should ensure the availability and, if necessary, the attendance at the relevant meeting, of any member of the Company's executive management responsible for a matter included as an agenda item at the relevant meeting.

In addition to Board meetings, non-executive directors should consider the benefits of conferring periodically without executive directors or other senior executives present.

13. Agenda

An agenda will be prepared for each Board and Board committee meeting. The agenda will be prepared by the Company Secretary.

The following items will be standing items on the agenda unless otherwise determined by the Chair:

Although the Board may delegate powers and responsibilities to these committees, the Board retains ultimate accountability for discharging its duties.

The composition of the membership, including the Chair, of each of these committees will be as determined by the Board from time to time, subject to the following restrictions:

- the Remuneration Committee must comprise at least three members, all of whom are non-executive directors and a majority of whom will be independent; and

The Board will consider and approve the charters of the various committees. These Charters will identify the areas in which the Board will be assisted by each committee.

Each committee will report regularly to the Board in accordance with their respective charters.

- the Chair may set a reasonable limit on the amount that the Company will contribute towards the cost of obtaining the advice;
- all documentation containing or seeking independent professional advice must clearly state that the advice is sought both in relation to the Company and to the director in their professional capacity. However, the right to advice does not extend to advice concerning matters of a personal or private nature, including for example, matters relating to the director's contract of employment with the Company (in the case of an executive director) or any dispute between the director and the Company; and
- the Chair may determine that any advice received by an individual director will be circulated to the remainder of the Board.

All directors are entitled to the benefit of the Company's standard Deed of Indemnity and Undertaking which provides ongoing access to Board Papers and, at the Company's expense, Directors and Officers insurance.
